WASHINGTON SOCIETY BUSY

Entertainments for Flood Sufferers Furnish Treats.

(From The Tribune Bureau.)

Washington, April 5.—Washington society has experienced a lively week, even the sadness caused by the two great calamities—the Nebraska tornado and the Western floods—being partially dispelled by the entertainments given for the sufferers. Every one's heart and purse were opened, and the result was a rare treat in diversified talents of actor folk, both on and off the stage.

Entertainments for the new Cabinet were few, for the reason that the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels took nearly the entire Cabinet for a trip down to Tangier Sound to watch the Atlantic fleet at target practice.

Mrs. Marshall was several times the guest of honor at luncheons, and she and the Vice-President were guests at dinner of Brigadier General and Mrs. Marshall.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan also came in for a share of the entertainment of the week, and the dinner given in their honor at the German Embassy on Tuesday night was a particularly brilliant affair. The wonderful Parian marble figures used on the table only for very grand affairs were much in evidence.

The several small events in which the daughters of the President and Mrs. Wilson took part brought them into closer acquaintance with the younger set of society. The dinner at the Chevy Chase Club to-night and the dance which followed, when Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fitch Shepard were hosts, threw them with all of the younger folk. Many dinner parties were entertained at the club, and the guests all remained for the dance.

Next week promises many interesting social events, and several notable dances will be given, including the one on Monday night, with Mrs. Robert Patterson as hostess. The guests asked being the friends of her daughter Countess Glazkov.

Senator and Mrs. Francis E. Warren will entertain a company on Tuesday.

Nothing more interests society just now than arrangements for the marriage of Miss Alys Appleton Meyer, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George von L. Meyer, and Lieutenant Raymond Rodgers, U. S. N., which will occur in St. John's Church at noon on Friday, April 25. Miss Meyer, like Miss Ethel Roosevelt, carries the misfortune generally attributed to Friday; and on that day a brilliant throng of diplomats and army and navy folk will attend both the ceremony and breakfast.

These three engagements announced this week lend glamour to the prospective spring wedding programme, and it plans for the marriage of Miss Marion Everett Wise and Charles C. Glover, Jr., whose engagement has just been announced, are carried out, the affair will be one of the most picturesque ever seen here. The suggestion has been made that both the ceremony and breakfast take place under the great forest trees of Woodley, the Woodley Lane estate of Senator and Mrs. Francis G. Newlands, a beautiful place north of Washington, so high above the city that it commands a view of the entire capital and of the Potomac almost down to Mount Vernon.

The marriage of Miss Jennie Boyd Bryan and Judge John H. Barton Payne, of Chicago, will probably occur in the quaint and artistic home of the bridegroom and her brother, Charles Payne Bryan, formerly Ambassador to Japan. The house is in the vicinity of St. John's Church, the home of Mrs. John Hay and other interesting places, and its drawing rooms are filled with rare carvings, paintings and embroideries collected by Mr. Bryan in all parts of the world.

Senator and Mrs. Reed Smoot also announced the engagement of their daughter, Annie Kay Smoot, to Grover Reventsch, and their marriage will probably take place in the home of the Senator, which overlooks Rock Creek Park.

Countess von Bernstorff, wife of the German Ambassador, accompanied by Mr. von Blow, will sail from New York on April 12 for Germany, and the Ambassador will follow them in July.

Mrs. Redfield, wife of the Secretary of Commerce, and Mrs. Houston, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, will both come to Washington next week and will complete the Cabinet circle.
